

2024 (19 th) China Aluminum Industry Summit

Chengdu Sichuan China, 8.21-8.23, August 2024

Meeting background

In 2024, against the backdrop of intensified global geopolitical conflicts, the trend of China's economic recovery continues to be positive. The development of China's aluminum industry has also shown strong growth momentum. In the face of tight supply of local bauxite ore, the price of alumina in China has risen strongly. The green and low-carbon technology of aluminum has further developed, and industry profits have also remained stable. The production of recycled aluminum has continued to exceed the upper limit, and the proportion of green and low-carbon aluminum has further increased. The import and export of aluminum products have remained active. The ability and technology of aluminum processing continue to develop towards precision and depth. The consumption of aluminum products in various consumer industries in China has undergone significant changes and fluctuations, and the "trade in" model advocated by the government has become a new engine for aluminum consumption growth. The supply of prebaked anodes and petroleum coke is sufficient, and the price of aluminum fluoride is showing a stepwise increase. In summary, China's aluminum industry still showed strong resilience in the first half of the year.

In order to fully implement the top-level design of the dual carbon target of China aluminum industry and accessories market, and build a platform for information sharing, exchange and cooperation, mutual benefit and win-win for the global aluminum industry and accessories industry participants, Aladdin is scheduled to hold the "19th China Aluminum Summit" in Chengdu Sichuan on August 21-23,2024.
